OVERVIEW

STRATEGIC LOGISTICS LOCATION IN SOUTHERN POLAND

P3 Bielsko-Biała is located in southern Poland, in the Silesian Voivodeship, approximately 70 km south of Katowice and within convenient reach of both the Czech and Slovak borders. The location provides access to one of Poland's most important industrial regions, with Silesia particularly well established in automotive manufacturing, engineering, logistics and distribution. Bielsko-Biała itself has a strong industrial base and benefits from its position within the wider Silesian economic region, making it an attractive location for companies serving southern Poland as well as neighbouring Central European markets.

The property is situated in the western part of Bielsko-Biała, approximately 500 m from the S52 expressway, with direct access via Międzyrzecka Street. The S52 provides an important connection towards Cieszyn and the Czech border, while the nearby S1 expressway connects Bielsko-Biała north towards Katowice and the wider Silesian road network, as well as south towards Slovakia. These routes provide convenient connections to Poland's national motorway network and major transport corridors towards Kraków, Wrocław, Warsaw and Germany, supporting efficient domestic and international distribution.

ESTABLISHED AUTOMOTIVE & INDUSTRIAL ENVIRONMENT

Bielsko-Biała and the wider Silesian region form an established automotive, manufacturing and logistics cluster, supported by a dense network of manufacturers, suppliers and industrial businesses. The area has also benefited from the presence of the Katowice Special Economic Zone, which has contributed to the development of the region's manufacturing and automotive sectors. In addition to strong road connectivity, the property
